Virginia Ready Announces Plan to Sunset Operations in Q3 2024

Invests 1.3MM+ of Remaining Funds Into Other Virginia Nonprofits (Impact on Scholars)

Alexandria, Virginia – Virginia Ready, a state-wide nonprofit, has been a catalyst for community change, investing over $6.1MM to help over 6,300+ Virginians gain real-world skills and enhance their career prospects through credentialing. Over 66% of Virginia Ready scholars have received employment . . . (NOTE: would like to compare this to other employment averages and also add how long it took to find employment)

Founded in 2020 as a COVID-19 initiative, the Virginia Ready team and board have determined the impact of the original organization can scale faster by shifting to invest in established organizations already dedicated to credentialing and non-traditional education.

Virginia Ready has had the opportunity to convene partnerships with some of the largest employers and institutions across the state, including Virginia Community College System (VCCS), Dominion Energy, Genworth Financial, Sentara Health and others.

This legacy of partnership will continue, by investing back the organization's remaining funds into nonprofits making significant strides across the state (and regionally). These include: United Way (Central Virginia), Community Foundations (NOVA), etc.

“We are so grateful for Virginia Ready and their shift to invest in the network. They truly exemplify the belief that we can go further together than alone. This gift will greatly accelerate our work to . . . etc.”, said John Doe, Nonprofit Director]

The organizations were selected based on geographic region, their commitment to show impact data, and their alignment with the Virginia Ready mission objectives:

1. Connecting scholars to high-quality, industry-specific training programs.
2. Supporting career advancement in individuals' careers.
3. Driving economic growth and prosperity in Virginia by developing career-minded citizens.
4. Being a skills-first ally in the workforce by providing equal access.
5. Building strong partnerships with businesses, educational institutions, and community organizations.

“Virginia Ready was built on a conviction that every Virginian should have a chance to build the skills they need to help them get to where they want to go. This belief has guided our work and it's this conviction that led us to channel our resources into the impact of other great organizations doing it well . . .", said Natalie Foster, Virginia Ready Executive Director.

Virginia Ready has also recently released a [Whitepaper Report] (link) 68% have received job placement - that is publicly available on their website detailing deeper insights into Virginia's workforce development challenges. Findings and learnings cited include ways to identify and tackle areas that are preventing Virginians from career success, such as skills misalignment, inadequate access to training, economic disparities, employer-education disconnect, lack of career readiness, and need for rapid reskilling. It is the hope of Virginia Ready that like-minded nonprofits in Virginia will carry on their learnings to transform and accelerate the career potential of every Virginian.
